Feed Energy CEO Riley To Make Key Presentation at the American Feed Industry Association's 2008 Liquid Feed Symposium

July 14, 2008 –Des Moines, Iowa – Feed Energy Company announced today that President and CEO Robert G. Riley will be a featured speaker at the 2008 American Feed Industry Association's Liquid Feed Symposium in Austin, Texas, this September. Riley's presentation, titled "Feed, Food, Fuel & More Foolishness-What's in Our Future Now," will be a follow-up to his well-received presentation at the 2007 symposium, which explored the dynamics that exist between the current boom in the production of biofuels and the ultimate potential impact on the food supply.

The American Feed Industry Association (AFIA) is the world's largest organization devoted exclusively to representing the business, legislative and regulatory interests of the animal feed industry and its suppliers. Membership includes 550 domestic and international companies; state, national and regional associations. The focus of AFIA's 2008 Liquid Feed Symposium is "Analyzing Today's Marketplace and Tomorrow's Opportunities."

Riley has been in the oil processing industry for over 30 years and has had a life-long interest in the environment, rural development, sustainable agriculture, and land use. His company, Feed Energy, is an agribusiness firm primarily engaged in processing soybean oil coproducts for use in feed, agronomy, dust control, fuel, and industrial and fertilizer applications, and is one of the largest acidulators of soybean soap stock in North America.
